Property Description:

Located in one of Mérida's most exclusive and valuable residential areas, this property offers an excellent opportunity for both remodeling and developing a new real estate project. With more than 1,000 m2 of land within the city, this house represents exceptional value due to its location and characteristics.

The property is single-story, ideal for families or those seeking comfort without stairs. It is also perfect for developers who want to build apartments, townhouses, or other types of housing projects thanks to the large lot and its privileged location.
